

The FCC should NOT relax the regulations governing the ownership of media outlets by companies. There should be further restrictions on the broadcast outlets owned within a market area. In order for information to fairly and accurately reach and serve the public, many different, independent sources must be available.